Gromyko Asks Summit Talks On Disarmament

Russia Sets Congo Help For Rebels

Soviet Reported Ready To Help Pay Expense For Airlift

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union reportedly has agreed to help finance the growing arms airlift to the Congolese rebels.

An East European Communist diplomat said the Soviets agreed last weekend to replenish stocks of the Soviet-made weapons which Algeria and the United Arab Republic are shipping to Christophe Gbenye's forces. The Russians also reportedly will pay part of the airlift costs.

Communist China has supported the rebels through its embassy in Burundi, east of the Congo, but when the rebels were driven north toward the Sudanese border, the supply lines became difficult to maintain. The Chinese are reported trying to improve their supply, and the Soviets apparently are trying to counter this.

Witnesses have seen Soviet-built Antonov transports of Egyptian and Algerian registry ferrying weapons to the Congo through Khartoum and Juba, in Sudan.

The Soviet support of the airlift was negotiated in Cairo by rebel "defense minister" Gaston Soumialot and the Soviet ambassador to Egypt, Vladimir Erofeev.

In the former rebel capital of Stanleyville about 20 white mercenaries and a company of Congolese government soldiers crossed the Congo River in barges Sunday to clean out rebel snipers in the native quarter on the south bank.

Radio messages said about 80 rebels surrendered. One white soldier was wounded. Rebel casualties were not reported.

Ice Cripples Many Towns In New York

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — An ice storm that crippled scores of New York State communities forced hundreds of families to evacuate their homes and seek warmth and refuge in schools, churches and other community centers.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, touring evacuation centers in the Schenectady area Sunday night, declared, "We had ice storms before, but none has ever been as bad as this."

He was talking about a combination of freezing rain, snow and ice accumulation that began Friday and that, by late Sunday night, froze community activities — from high school basketball games to worship services — to a stop.

Families began entering the emergency centers Friday night. Others followed as the storm damage left thousands of homes without electricity or heat.

Midland Boy Stabbed In Fracas At Monaca

A 17-year-old Midland boy is in "fair" condition today at Rochester General Hospital with stab wounds of the chest and another Midland juvenile is confined at Allentown Juvenile Detention Home following an incident Saturday night in Monaca.

Monaca police said Wayne Ondrejko, 565 Ohio Ave., was at the Monaca end of the Monaca - Rochester Bridge talking with two girls when the 16-year-old and a younger approached and began arguing.

In the ensuing fracas, Ondrejko was stabbed by the 16-year-old, who already was a ward of the home, officials said.

The rioters smashed windows at Communist China's embassy.

Chicago Pair Piqued

CHICAGO (AP) — Police have arrested two men for shoving and swearing at each other on a subway train. Police said the men, both with records as pickpockets, apparently tried to pick each other's pockets in the incident Friday.

The rioters smashed windows at Communist China's embassy.

Burch Future Cloudy

GOP Governors Say Chairman Lacks Party Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors have started a fire within their party that could make it difficult for National Chairman Dean Burch to command the broad-base support he needs to hold his job.

Although they stopped short in a declaration at Denver, Colo., Saturday of calling collectively for Burch's resignation, there appeared to be majority belief among the 18 who attended that after Burch canvasses the situation thoroughly he may decide to step out.

This was based in part on reports given the governors in closed session that as many as 70 of the 138-member Republican National Committee may favor replacement of Burch.

Burch's own canvass of his strength within the committee was said to have been somewhat disappointing to him.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, former head of the committee, made the point on a television broadcast Sunday — ABC's "Issues and Answers" — that the chairman has to have broad support within the committee. He added he didn't know anybody "who would want to stay in that position that didn't have support of his own committee."

Morton, who had announced his backing of Burch, said it is up to the members of the National Committee and no one else to determine whether Burch should be replaced.

He added: "He must have broad support in the National Committee itself, he must have broad support among the Republican governors, the Republican mayors, Republican leaders, state chairmen, vice chairmen, Young Republicans and all."

Although the governors avoided naming Burch in a declaration setting out their ideas about revising the party leadership, it seemed clear a majority were not offering the chairman the kind of "broad support" Morton said was necessary.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said in a national telecast that the chairman has to have

Gov. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, who opposed efforts by Morton and others to put the governors association on record for Burch's ouster, said a state is convinced a majority of the National Committee members want Burch to go. Romney was joined by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Robert E. Smylie of Idaho and some others in saying Burch must go.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, has said he is standing firmly behind Burch. But even some of Goldwater's firmest supporters among the governors qualified their endorsement of the national chairman.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said Burch should have the opportunity to end "the factionalism which is disrupting us." If the chairman can't do that, Babcock said, he would expect

Burch "to step down for the good of the party and I would be among those asking him to do so."

Gov. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, who opposed efforts by Morton and others to put the governors association on record for Burch's ouster, said a state

Time Ripe, Soviet Aide Announces

Nuclear Ban Listed With Red Proposals On Easing Tension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today called for a world summit conference on disarmament.

The Soviet proposal was made before the U.N. General Assembly in the first major policy declaration of the new Soviet leadership.

Gromyko also submitted a detailed memorandum on disarmament, outlining measures to be considered at the proposed conference.

The Soviet foreign minister declared that the present international situation was ripe for progress on such measures as a complete ban on nuclear weapons, the liquidation of foreign bases and the reduction of military budgets.

Wilson Airs Nuclear Force With President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson was to present to President Johnson today new British proposals for organizing a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

U.S. and British officials were hopeful for early agreement on the rough outlines of a command and control system, which would then be negotiated with West Germany and other interested Allies.

The Johnson-Wilson conference will continue through Tuesday.

The President will then meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on Wednesday. That meeting will afford Johnson an opportunity to stress to the new government in Moscow his view that the projected NATO nuclear force — opposed by the Soviet Union — will not

Payless Time Ordered For Fire Official

Asst. Fire Chief James Pelley has been suspended for five days without pay by Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey on charges of "inefficiency and neglect of duty."

The charge was filed by Chief Charles Bryan who alleged Pelley was sleeping while on duty the afternoon of Dec. 2 at Central Station.

The suspension was handed Pelley effective Sunday at 8 a.m. after a hearing Saturday before the director.

The assistant chief will miss only one work day — Tuesday — and is scheduled to report for work with his crew Friday morning, the director said.

Pelley's crew was on duty Saturday. It will return to work on Sunday and today and then will have Wednesday and Thursday off before returning to work Friday.

Under Civil Service laws, Pelley may appeal the decision to the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

Party's Dilemma Shows

GOP Governors Reveal Confidence In Statement

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors are the most self-confident branch of their party at the moment, as they showed in a statement issued after their weekend meeting in Denver.

They got some reason for their confidence from the 1964 elections which were a disaster for the rest of the party.

While Republicans lost out on the presidency in the elections and in Congress dropped 38 House seats and two in the Senate, the party registered a net gain of one in governorships.

But in the very statement which they intended as a chart for the Republicans' future, the governors revealed the party's dilemma in national politics. They wound up sounding like a lot of Democrats.

Although they didn't say so there was another good reason for their willingness to tell the party what it ought to do.

In the 1968 presidential race the Republican candidate will probably come from the ranks of the governors. No Republican in Congress at this time looks like a presidential prospect.

The statement left little doubt that it was critical of Dean Burch, handpicked by Sen. Barry Goldwater to be chairman of the Republican National Committee.

But it named no names. Therefore, it was so ambiguous that some of the governors, who supported Goldwater, could say it wasn't aimed at Burch while others could say it was.

The governors covered a lot of ground in the statement:

1. They sketched an outline of principles they think the party should follow after the 1964 disasters.

2. They suggested the National Committee take steps to include from now on Republican governors and members of Congress — who they said should be included in a GOP leadership conference next year.

3. They didn't mention Goldwater but so worded what they said that he'd have to be obtuse not to take it as a rebuke.

4. They suggested the National Committee "adopt leadership" that represents a "broad view of Republicanism and practices a policy of inclusion rather than exclusion."

Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said No. 4 was a clear call for throwing Burch out of the committee chairmanship.

The thrust at Goldwater was contained in this paragraph calling for Republican party support of civil rights:

"We feel it pertinent to remind our fellow citizens that most Republicans in Congress this year supported the federal Civil Rights Act." Goldwater voted against it.

The principles, which the governors unanimously said the party should follow, turned out to be very moderate, indeed, and are hardly distinguishable from those Republicans and Democrats had followed in the past.

Example: Support for old-age security, hospital and medical care, decent living standards, public education, mental health, and the needs of youth.

It's just because the Democrats talk the same way that the two parties for years have looked like twins, and sounded like them.

Goldwater and his followers were less enthusiastic about welfare programs. For this reason, among others, his candidacy symbolized a break with previous Republicanism.

The governors' statement, therefore, can be interpreted as an attempt to get away from Goldwater's views and resume the party's previous positions.

The governors ruled out "radicalism" of left or right.

But for the greater part of the past 32 years those previous Republican positions had failed to win the presidency or control of Congress. But these are the positions the governors say are necessary.

So the party's dilemma is how to win with them in the future if it fared so poorly in the past.

And Goldwater's views can hardly be considered the answer, after what happened to him.

Elks Lodge Memorial Service Attracts 110

About 110 attended the 71st annual memorial service for deceased members of Elks Lodge 258 Sunday afternoon in the ballroom of the lodge home.

The memorial address was given by the Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. Several selections were presented by the Crucible Steel Male Chorus, under the direction of Fred R. Martell. Ralph Falconer was organist.

Edward B. Massey, exalted ruler, conducted the opening ceremonies and Richard Williams, chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. The officers conducted the closing ceremony.

Joseph W. Chetwynd headed the arrangement committee. Dinner was served by Lady Elks.

Collision Demolishes Salineville Boy's Auto

SALINEVILLE — A 1959 sedan driven by Ronald K. Owens, 17, of Salineville R. D. 1 was demolished in a crash Sunday at 12:10 a. m. on the Lafferty Rd. in the West End, according to Constable Alvin K. Johnston.

The car went off the highway, through a fence and into a pasture. The entire undercarriage was ripped off when it went over a ditch, Johnston said.

Owens told the officer he was forced off the highway by another vehicle. The car is owned by the youth's father, Ralph Owens.

SUMMITVILLE — Reports by John Wargo, president, on various preparations for the winter featured the Saturday afternoon meeting of the Franklin Township trustees.

Wargo said tire chains have been ordered for the township truck and that equipment is being readied for use. He said slag is being kept on unpaved roads which became soft due to changing weather conditions.

It also was reported that a catchbasin at Main and North Sts. in Millport would be repaired as soon as the weather permits. Bills totaling $240 were paid. The next meeting will be Dec. 19.

Long Terms For Representatives

One of the reapportionment plans for the Ohio General Assembly's lower house embodies a proposal to double the present two-year terms of representatives.

This has no direct connection with re-apportionment. It does have bearing on the efficiency of representation in the legislature.

It would give continuity of organization to the lower house. At the beginning, half the members would be elected for two-year terms, the other half for four-year terms. Thereafter, all candidates would stand for four-year terms, with half the seats coming up for grabs every biennium.

This would give voters a fresh crack at the lower house each two years.

But it would give the representatives a continuity of organization that now is impossible. As the state's affairs increase in complexity, legislators need to increase their efficiency not only in Columbus but in their bailiwicks.

Much of the legislature's most important work is done in interim committees; meeting when there is no legislative session in progress. These committees need more stability.

If Ohio's General Assembly were to convene annually, it is pointed out by backers of the four-year-term proposal, a longer term for representatives would be even more urgent from the standpoint of legislative efficiency.

Strongest argument for two-year terms always has been responsiveness to a change in popular opinion. This is, indeed, a necessity. But with half the seats in the House of Representatives being filled every two years, there would be no loss of responsiveness.

Apply Christmas Spirit In Traffic

Nothing will mar the coming holiday season faster than being involved in a traffic tragedy... either as its cause or a victim, or both... warns A. P. Morris of the Columbian County Motor Club.

The AAA official points out that for years December has ranked first or second in traffic deaths, and notes that part of the cause is the varied activity that goes with preparing for Christmas and New Year's, and also in the extensive travel during the holidays.

Motorists and pedestrians are urged to combat the holiday hazards by following these safety tips:

Be extra careful in congested areas. Pedestrians loaded with packages may have their vision obscured and are not

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

With the coming of the first pristine blanket of snow in our area, you appeared in my mind in the form of Hiawatha, trotting around that little spread of yours in the country, talking to the rabbits, blue jays, raccoons, mice, pheasants, deer, bear and all our other so-called wild animal friends.

Aside from their denunciation of dogs, cats and hunters, I presume they joined you in exchanging pleasantries.

As you know, Hiawatha was credited with spreading peace and goodwill among men, and this is to wish you well in your similar endeavors. We haven't had a progress report in some time from you but have every reasonable expectation that you will accomplish this worthwhile goal soon.

In case you never paused to think about it, the highway hitchhiker has become almost extinct because of expressways, higher speeds, crime warnings and more prosperous times.

It used to be common for young fellows to take off for the next town or the next state, depending on their thumbs and the generosity of passing drivers.

Some people are hoping and saying that the government's closing of military establishments will make the money saved available for such humanitarian things as hospitals, schools and other developments. Now all that has to be figured out is how to get the money from there to there, and who is going to do it.

All of this talk about the FBI being strictly an investigating agency, as its name says, and that it doesn't have any police powers, baffles me. Every day there are news stories about the FBI making arrests, shooting it out with gangsters and rounding up spies. Looks like pretty tough investigation work.

Can't wait to see you in all your new winter clothing you were writing about the other day. If there is any difficulty in recognizing you, don't hesitate to speak up and identify yourself.

The Lively Ones

Driving back and forth to work from our pocket of poverty in Rosy Fingered Dawn I have formed an impression about women's work.

It's never done.

When snow falls, women shovel snow. When leaves fall, they rake leaves. Comes springtime and they plant flowers and pull weeds.

Comes summer and they mow grass. They walk dogs, drive kids to school and who knows where in the family car. They work in gardens. They scrub walks and porches.

They paint houses and garages. I have seen them helping to build houses.

At the Rosy Fingered Dawn end of my trip, they milk cows and help with farming. They drive tractors and trucks. They take care of chickens.

At the town end, I see them driving to jobs in factories and offices, scrubbed and primped for another bread-winning day in the outside world. They live in two worlds — one for pay, one for love.

Out of years of experience, I know what they do inside their houses.

They move pianos, beds, paint furniture, cook, wash, iron, wrestle with babies, ride herd on obstreperous kids, nurse the ill, pamper the spoiled, make electrical repairs, sew, mend, wheedle and are tactful about the patience-trying demands of the elderly who have been left in their care.

And this is only the beginning.

It suggests something about women that anthropologists had better pay attention to — the possibility they are outliving men because the male of the species is physically and mentally effete.

It's women who are on the go in this era. Men are slowing down. As their working day shortens, so do their lives. The trade union giveth and Divine Providence taketh away.

Meanwhile, the female of the species keeps accelerating her rate of living activity and her longevity. The country is long on widows and short on widowers.

This is the impression I have formed while driving back and forth to work.

No task is too large or too small for

Is Shorter Work Week Getting Near?

By Victor Riesel

President Johnson was in his rocking chair at 12:45 p.m. May 12 talking to some of the nation's conservative business leaders whom he had invited into the White House.

He spoke for most of the 45 minutes they spent with him — telling them he had no doubt noticed that he had invited him to the White House.

"Mr. Meany, how do you appraise President Johnson's attitude toward the shorter work week in comparison with President Kennedy?"

Meany: Well, I would say this that shortly before President Kennedy died he indicated at a luncheon at the White House that he felt that the question of a shorter work week certainly had to be studied, and that he had at least changed his mind to the extent that he no longer ruled it out as being uneconomic and not making a contribution.

"I think there was quite a change in his mind, and I think President Johnson is of the same opinion, that he feels this whole question of hours should be studied, and incidentally I might say to you that this is Secretary of Labor Wirtz' opinion, despite the fact that he told them.

Now, they wonder if they'll love him in December as they did in May. Why?

BECAUSE NAM leaders at their 69th Congress of American Industry heard that Mr. Labor himself, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, soon will confer with Mr. Johnson on labor's 1965 demands. Among these will be the cutting of the national work week from 40 to 35 hours.

Until the other day most labor leaders believed the shorter work week was as distant as a Mars flightport. But now they learn that Mr. Meany believes that the President and his secretary of labor think more kindly of the proposal earlier than 1964.

CERTAINLY the businessmen believe that Mr. Meany will talk in this vein with President Johnson when the two old friends meet within the next few weeks. Certainly the businessmen think that this will be a high priority argument when the labor movement brings over 600 of its national leaders to

Since there already is a shortage of manpower in steel and other industries and the average industrial worker is now putting in more than three hours a week in overtime, the cost of a shorter work week sends the jitters through many a cost-conscious executive suite.

The sensitive issue, involving hundreds of millions of dollars annually, will become a raging battlefield long before the next Congress hustles back to the hustings.

There May Be No Solution

By Tom Lambert

South Viet Nam presents one of the most baffling, infuriating, intricate and dangerous problems the United States has faced in a long time. And, as things now stand, the State Department has no diplomatic solution in sight.

An American program for victory seems to call for greatly expanded military and economic help — and with it the risk such action might bring on a war with Communist China.

Yet if South Viet Nam falls to the Communists the United States will be faced with the near-certainty of further Red encroachments in Southeast Asia and with a drastic shrinkage of the American influence and position remaining in the area.

American diplomatic efforts to try to save South Viet Nam, therefore, run smack into French opposition — and into Communist North Viet Nam's, China's and Russia's counter-policies of trying to win the country for Communism.

The U.S. has scored several diplomatic achievements in its attempts to save the little Communist - beleaguered Southeast Asian country.

It has enlisted help or promises of help for South Viet Nam from a dozen free world countries, which earlier had been indifferent about what was going on there.

But the aid commitments have had no more effect on the Communists than repeated U.S. warnings to the North Vietnamese and Chinese leaders that they were in for trouble unless they left South Viet Nam alone.

The U.S. repeatedly has called to the world's attention the extent of Chinese and North Vietnamese participation in the campaign to capture South Viet Nam. But the world has paid little if any heed.

In their continuing hunt for answers for South Viet Nam's problems, U.S. policy makers have studied a host of alternatives.

Those alternatives, and an undisclosed number of others, have been up for review by President Johnson and his advisers.

At the moment, however, some officials suggest the review may have produced only a "more of the same" American policy for South Viet Nam, and not any drastic changes.

"Is toast, Comrade Chinese, to necessity of showing world a united image . . . and to stop acting like a bunch of Communists!"

The Hidden Truth

By David Lawrence

What's At Stake In U.N. Dispute

The world isn't getting the truth about the real reason why Russia is refusing to pay assessments in the United Nations. Neither the United States nor any other Western government has ventured to define the basic issue.

There is, in fact, an ironic consistency in David Lawrence the Soviet's refusal to make payments on its debt of several million dollars to the United Nations. The amounts owed by Russia were spent by the U.N. in an attempt to defeat the objectives of Moscow's expenditures of probably a billion dollars a year in carrying on revolutionary movements on nearly every continent.

The dispute over the payment of U.N. dues is a technical one. The Soviet Union has been keeping up with its regular dues but refuses to pay certain special assessments which have been levied in connection with the expenses incurred by the United Nations in trying to maintain peace in the Congo, the Middle East and other areas.

The Soviet Union contends that it did not vote for such projects and is not obligated under the Charter of the U.N. to pay for them. An advisory opinion obtained from the International Court of Justice declared that assessments for U.N. forces should be considered as obligatory dues. While this tends to uphold the concept that all assessments must be paid if a member is to be permitted to continue to vote in the General Assembly, the fact remains that there is no specific obligation on this point set forth in the Charter of the organization itself.

NOT ONLY is the Moscow government involved, but the other Communist-bloc countries have been coerced by the Soviet regime into a refusal also to pay any assessments levied by the U.N. in connection with its peace-keeping operations. Proposals have been advanced recently that the Security Council of the U.N. should have a voice in approving or disapproving the special assessments, but even in 1950, when this same council called upon the various member nations to send troops into Korea to repel an invasion, the Soviet Union took it upon itself to furnish arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese to carry on their invasion of Korea. No action was ever taken by the United Nations to expel the Soviet Union from the Security Council because of this act of treason to the organization.

The situation remains unchanged today. The Soviets still are engaged in a worldwide revolutionary movement which constitutes treason against the United Nations itself.

Penalty Given To 3 Drivers In City Court

Three area motorists were fined $15 and costs each and a fourth received a suspended fine in traffic hearings today before Acting Municipal Judge Paul Tobin.

Gerald Malloy, 849 Phoenix Ave., Chester, drew the penalty after being cited at 8:26 a. m. today for crashing the traffic signal at E. 3rd St. and Broadway.

Similar fines were handed Ed Lee Parker, 1205 Anderson Blvd., Wellsville, and Jack E.

Ingram of Irondale, who were cited Saturday by the State Highway Patrol for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

A hearing is scheduled Tuesday morning for Herbert F. Hughes Jr., 1430 Globe St., who also was cited Saturday by the patrol for traveling 65 in a 50-mile zone.

Charles E. Douth of Industry R. D. 1 was fined $10 and costs for making an illegal turn from Washington onto E. 5th St. Friday afternoon. However, Tobin suspended the fine on payment of costs.

A hearing scheduled Tuesday for James L. Jones, 326½ Main St., Wellsville, will be continued since the motorist still is a patient in City Hospital with injuries suffered in a one-car wreck Dec. 1 at Silver Switch, court attaches said.

Jones is accused by the patrol of traveling at a speed in excess of road conditions.

Hearings are scheduled Wednesday morning for two Wellsville motorists cited after the wreck by the patrol.

Robert G. Grimm, 2035 Chester Ave., Wellsville, is charged with "decreasing the speed of his vehicle without giving an appropriate signal to traffic immediately in the rear."

Major William McDowell, 1305 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, is charged with failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

McDowell came up behind the car operated by Grimm, who had slowed down and almost stopped while the motorist looked at Jones' auto, the patrol said.

Wellsville Volunteer Firemen Name Heads

Officers for the coming year were elected at a meeting of Wellsville volunteer firemen Sunday night at the station.

Tom Lanam was returned for another year as president. He also was named assistant chief. Others elected were Jim Rus-

Early History Recalled
St. Luke's In Georgetown Marks Sesquicentennial

St. Luke's Episcopal Church at Georgetown, a congregation dating back to the earliest settlement of the area, observed its 150th anniversary in services conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Rev. William S. Thomas, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh.

The sesquicentennial observance began with the rite of confirmation. Bishop Thomas confirmed six members of the parish: John M. Finley III, Jason M. Allison, Gregory Trimble, Susan Trimble, Deborah McMaffie and Samuel T. Laughlin. Mrs. Charles Finley was organist.

A pair of brass vases was dedicated by the bishop in memory of A. Samuel Hilbert Jr. The vases were given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden S. Hilbert.

Flowers on the altar were the gift of Mrs. Charles A. Finley in memory of her husband and her grandson, A. Samuel Hilbert. Flowers were given by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Laughlin in memory of Mrs. Laughlin's grandmother, Mrs. Mollie Trimble.

Bishop Thomas delivered the sermon. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mackall following the service. Sixty-five attended.

The early history of the congregation was recalled during the observance. The structure now used as a house of worship is 131 years old.

Long before the present Diocese of Pittsburgh existed, there was an Episcopal parish in Georgetown. Its date of origin is obscure, but the parish church of St. Luke's was admitted into union with the convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania in 1814. Bishops of the church had to travel by horseback and by boat from Philadelphia, the city of the diocese, to make their visits to Georgetown.

One of the first bishops to visit Georgetown for confirmation rites and inspection of the parish facilities was Bishop White of the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

St. Luke's, because of his visit in 1825, ranks among the few churches in the United States ever to have been visited by the first presiding bishop of the Episcopal church. The building which he visited was constructed of logs. The Rev. Francis Reno served the congregation at the time of Bishop White's visit and seems to have been the first priest to hold services in the log church.

The present brick building was erected in 1833. It was not until 1852 that the church was consecrated. The rite was held by Bishop Alonzo Potter on Oct. 2, 1852. Bishop Potter, traveling from Philadelphia, visited Butler, Pittsburgh, New Brighton, Georgetown and Washington, Pa., all in the space of three days. He traveled most of the way by carriage.

Bishop Thomas delivered the sermon. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mackall following the service. Sixty-five attended.

The early history of the congregation was recalled during the observance. The structure now used as a house of worship is 131 years old.

He arrived at the church one

Sunday to find an air of excitement because Morgan's Raiders, a Confederate cavalry detachment, was reported in the vicinity and expected to cross the Ohio River into Georgetown.

Tradition says the cavalry arrived as Rev. Mackay was holding services and one of the troopers threw open the door of the church, stepped inside and

Colleges Expect
10 Per Cent Hike
In '68 Freshmen

CINCINNATI (AP)—For every five freshmen who attended college last year, there are now almost six potential members of the class of 1968, a Cincinnati educator says.

Dr. Garland G. Parker, registrar of the University of Cincinnati, said Sunday night his annual survey of 1,111 accredited schools showed there are 17.3 per cent more freshmen than a year ago.

"If we take account only of the pool of potential applicants available, we may expect another 10 to 12 per cent increase of freshmen next year," said Dr. Parker, who made his study for "School and Society" journal.

"In 1966 there may be a small decrease, in 1967 and 1968 there will be little change, but steady increases should be resumed in 1969 and thereafter."

Dr. Parker's study showed there are now 4,118,735 students attending classes — 2,813,328 of them full time—and he warned that in a few years "our institutions of higher education will find themselves grappling with the educational challenge of the century."

"If they are not ready, a crash program of preparation should be the order of the day. All the resources and educational manpower that can be mustered in both public and private areas will be needed to take care of this academic host."

The study showed the gap between the numbers of men and women students is narrowing. This fall there were 1,724,732 men—up 9.6 per cent—and 1,088,596 full-time coeds — 10.9 per cent more than in 1963.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Doctors say 8-year-old Lewis Owens has a fighting chance for survival with at least 30 to 35 more blood transfusions.

Lewis, who lives in the Mississippi hamlet of Hot Coffee, is a hemophiliac—a sufferer of that rare condition notable among some branches of royalty where blood doesn't clot.

Two months ago, Lewis, son of a Negro laborer, had an emergency appendectomy. Doctors say only 26 known hemophiliacs have undergone appendectomies. Five of them died.

Lewis is still in Baptist Hospital here. He has had 289 blood transfusions—enough to change all the blood in his body 40 times over.

"As long as we keep on giving him blood, it appears now he will be all right," one of his doctors said Sunday.

Hospital authorities now are finding it difficult to get blood for Lewis.

Local supplies have almost been exhausted. Members of the hospital staff have provided some blood for Lewis' transfusions.

The blood Lewis has received thus far is valued by hospital authorities at $8,500. His total hospital bill is more than $10,000.

Roscoe Owens, Lewis' father, says benefits from his small hospital insurance policy ran out long ago.

Optimism Seen In Bid To End Albany Strike

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Management and labor representatives moved back to the bargaining table today with optimistic, but guarded, views toward settling the city's 16-day-old newspaper strike.

After five hours of negotiations Sunday night, a spokesman for Capital Newspapers said he looked to an early end

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW, EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO

SOCIAL NOTES

lina Ave. has returned after a 10-day vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

A guild official said the opposing sides were nearer to agreement on issues involving wages and fringe benefits. There was no progress, he said, on settling a company proposal for a flexible work week.

The Guild opposes suggestions that management be allowed to schedule long and short work days within a 37½ hour work week. The plan would be voluntary.

Officials of the Hearst-owned papers obtained Saturday a court injunction that restrains picketing Guild members from doing anything that would lead to disorder.

Management spokesmen had said pickets prevented delivery trucks from leaving the joint plant of the papers. The papers have not tried to move the trucks since obtaining the injunction, however.

Hospital Treats 10 More

Woman, Girl Hospitalized With Injuries After Falls

A Calcutta child and a Wellsville woman injured in falls were admitted to City Hospital, where 10 other persons were treated over the weekend.

Heidi Smith, 3, daughter of Gene Smith of Highland Dr., Calcutta, was in "fair" condition today with a skull fracture suffered when she fell down steps at home. She was admitted Saturday night at 9:25.

Miss Martha Mills, 71, of 1303 Main St., Wellsville, was admitted Sunday at 2:05 a. m. with a possible fracture of the right hip suffered in a fall at home. She was in "fair" condition today.

One other person was treated yesterday. Mrs. Mary Jones, wife of Fred Jones of East End, suffered a possible fracture of the right index finger when she caught it in a car door.

Nine were treated Saturday. David Peterson, 13, son of Theodore Peterson of Wellsville R.D. 1, injured his wrist and hand while playing.

Mrs. Mable Wright, wife of Harry Wright, 414 2nd St., Chester, fractured her right shoulder when she fell on a walk at home.

People In News

IRUMA, Japan (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, received a Japanese decoration today, despite protests by leftists who said he was responsible for the World War II atom-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

LeMay was given the First Order of Merit of the Grand Cordon of the Rising Sun for his contribution to the development of Japan's postwar air defense system.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India returned to New Delhi today after a three-day state visit to Britain and said he was "completely satisfied" with his talks.

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz says "life doesn't make sense unless the older years are a time of full opportunity, resourcefulness and productivity."

Speaking Sunday night at a fund-raising dinner for Brookdale hospital center, Wirtz called for quick enactment of medical care for the aged as one of the nation's most important demands.

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Park Chung Hee of South Korea arrived today for a week-long state visit to West Germany and Berlin.

Fire

received burns on the left side of his face and ears while wearing an oxygen mask in fighting the flames in the intense heat and dense smoke which enveloped the building.

Both were treated at City Hospital, with Taylor later being taken to his home on Minerva St. The 26-year-old Nicholson returned to the fire scene.

The cause of the fire is listed officially as undetermined, but Chief Pelley said the investigation indicated a short circuit or gasoline dripping onto the hot manifold of the 1960 tanker apparently touched off the fire.

The blaze apparently had made major headway before a neighbor spotted the smoke around the buildings at 1924

Harvey Ave. and turned in the alarm at 5:15.

George Fletcher, an employee of the oil firm, told Pelley he was the last to leave the building at 4:35.

Fletcher told the assistant chief he had taken a flashlight out of the 1960 truck before leaving, but detected nothing wrong.

Taylor and Fireman William Lister, on duty at the East End station, were the first to reach the scene and were joined in a few minutes by a Seagraves pumper and the emergency truck from Central.

North Side firemen joined in fighting the blaze on the second alarm, with the Pleasant Heights crew filling in at Central.

Chief Pelley was on his day off with Fireman Frank Butler in charge until the assistant chief arrived after learning of the blaze when he stopped at Central.

The East End firemen said the flames appeared to be in front of the trucks in the garage part of the warehouse facing the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and apparently had already burned into the second floor of the building by the time they arrived.

The flames apparently were fed by gasoline from the truck's tank although the delivery tank was empty, Pelley said.

In firemen's parlance, the blaze was "breathing." Pelley explained firefighters term it "breathing" when a lack of oxygen to feed the flames causes smoke to puff out, then there is a pause while oxygen is sucked into the building and then more smoke.

The dense smoke handicapped firemen in locating the fire on the second floor.

The records room, partitioned off from the rest of the second floor, had no windows and firemen were unable to see the flames.

Firemen had made their way up an inner stairway to the second floor after spending some time in "knocking down" the flames on the first floor, only to see them start up again.

Virtually groping in the dark in an attempt to find the flames, which had burned the structural members of the building and weakened the floor, holes were chopped into the building to allow some of the smoke to escape.

The stairway was at the opposite end of the building from the records room where most of the fire was burning and fire-fighters were unable to see it. Pelley finally crawled across the floor cautiously and located the blaze.

Besides troubles with the smoke and heat, firemen were exhausting their air tanks and police were shuttling the tanks back to Central to be refilled.

At the height of the blaze, six streams of water were in use with the lines being fed from a hydrant at the adjoining Louthian Division plant of the Ferro Corp. and another at Harvey and Myrtle Aves.

Firemen remained at the scene for about five hours and a line was kept in place overnight in case of a new outbreak.

While firemen were fighting the fire, police rerouted Route 39 traffic over Michigan Ave. via Elizabeth and Putnam Sts. Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet's crew was called out and three members of Asst. Chief Alfred Van Dyne's unit, learning of the blaze, reported back.

Van Dyne's crew had gone off duty Saturday morning and Goodballet's shift was to begin Sunday morning.

CARS DRIVEN by John Johnson, 17, of Grand St., Irondale, and John McIntosh, 17, of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, were involved in a crash Sunday at 1:10 a. m. on Route 39 a quarter mile west of Wellsville.

McIntosh lost control on the snow-covered highway and his car slid into the Johnson car, off the right side of the highway and hit the wall. Davis' 1959 convertible was heavily damaged, the patrol said.

McIntosh was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions. Johnson suffered a laceration of the forehead.

A car driven by Charles Leffler, 22, of Irondale hit the rear of a parked vehicle owned by Max Reed, 26, of Lakewood Sunday at 10:30 a. m. on Route 164 three miles north of Route 39.

REED HAD parked on the highway to assist another motorist whose car was in a ditch. Reed was cited for parking on the highway and Leffler was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance, the patrol reported.

Four were hurt in a crash Sunday at 3:05 p. m. on Route 45 almost two miles north of Lisbon.

Officers said a car driven by Sam Joseph Basil, 48, of Follansbee, W. Va., started to pass another driven by Charles Carlisle, 25, of Lisbon R. D. 1 just as Carlisle started to make a left turn.

TO AVOID a collision, Basil went off the left side of the highway and rammed an embankment.

He suffered lacerations of the nose and contusions of the lower chest. He was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions.

Passengers in his car who were hurt included his wife, Mrs. Rose Basil, 44, laceration of the right eyebrow and contusions of the nose; Mary Manzano, 50, of Follansbee, abrasions of the legs and contusions of the head; and Isabell Manzano, 19, of Follansbee, abrasions of the right lower leg.

PAUL LESTER Bulger, 46, of 677 Lincoln Ave. escaped injury when his car skidded on ice and hit a guardrail on Old Route 30 a mile north of East Liverpool Sunday at 5 p. m.

Cars driven by James Davis, 21, of East Palestine R. D. 1 and Jose Priones, 28, also of East Palestine R. D. 1 collided Saturday at 9:05 p. m. on Township Rd. 936, just north of Route 14. Both cars were damaged heavily. Priones was cited for driving left of center. Davis suffered a bump on the left arm.

Cars driven by Walter Burt, 26, of Columbiana R. D. 2 and Joseph Lucas, 55, of 515 Elm St. were involved in a crash Saturday at 2:45 p. m. on Route 7 at the intersection with Route 14.

Burt turned onto Route 7 from Route 14, went left of center and hit the Lucas car, which was heavily damaged. Burt was cited for driving left of center, the patrol reported.

GOP

(Continued from Page 1)ment approved unanimously by the chief executives laid down broad leadership guidelines and the chairman "should be guided by them or get out."

Gov.-elect William Avery of Kansas said that if Burch found the declaration "incompatible" he should quit.

Among other things the governors said in their statement:

"We strongly recommend to the National Committee that in determining its leadership at the forthcoming meeting in January, adopt leadership which clearly represents a broad view of Republicanism and practices a policy of inclusion, rather than exclusion."

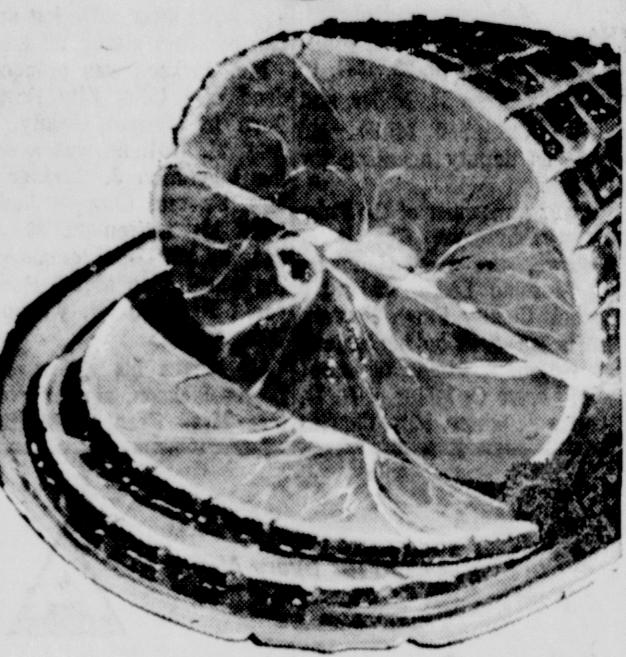

Party progressives have contended that Burch has frozen them out of policy making and party operations. This viewpoint seemed reflected in the governors' call for a top party leadership conference next spring to "sharpen and restate our party's basic principles."

Goldwater has said one of the reasons he doesn't believe Burch can be forced out is that "you can't beat somebody with nobody."

'65 Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe

'65 Chevrolet

It's a longer, lower, wider, roomier, quieter, handsomer, swankier kind of Chevrolet for '65. Beneath its clean-hewn lines, there's more shoulder room, more leg room up front and more foot room too. There are also curved side windows, fine new fabrics and a new instrument panel that's finished (in the Impala series) with the look of hand-rubbed walnut. Even Chevrolet's famous Jet-smooth ride is smoother. Come on down. More '65 models are on the way every day. And we're itching to show them off.

Claimed At 80

NEW CUMBERLAND — W. Fred Miller, 80, of R. D. 1, a former deputy assessor in Hancock County and a retired farmer, died Sunday at 4:10 p.m. at the Nentwick Nursing Home in East Liverpool after a long illness.

He was born at New Cumberland R.D. 1 June 25, 1884, to the late Morgan H. Miller and Millesa Campbell Miller. He served as deputy assessor for 16 years.

He was a member of the Fairview Presbyterian Church of Pugtowm, the New Cumberland Masonic Lodge and the Hancock County Farm Bureau.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edythe A. Miller, at home; a son, Lester C. Miller of R. D. 1, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Dorothy) Rodgers of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the church by the Rev. William H. Flurkey. Burial will be in Union Cemetery at Pugtowm.

Friends may call at the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland after 7 tonight.

Edgar Jackson

Edgar Jackson, 60, of 1615 Main St., Wellsville, died Sunday night after suffering an apparent heart attack at home.

Mr. Jackson was pronounced dead at 9:45 at City Hospital. Born in Morgan County, Ga., Aug. 21, 1904, he was a son of the late John J. Jackson and Mrs. Frances Chappel Jackson.

Until his retirement 12 years ago, he had been employed in the wheel shop of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. yards in Conway.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Leona Jackson, at home; a sister, Mrs. Frances Martin Wellsville, and two brothers, Franklin Jackson of Wellsville and Richard (Vess) Jackson of Columbus.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 by the Rev. Albert Ross of the New Jerusalem Baptist Church of Wellsville. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville.

Friends may call at the Haugh Funeral Home tonight and Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Harry Hall

Harry (Dutch) Hall, 59, of Green Garden Rd., Aliquippa, who was a self-employed trucker, died suddenly of an apparent heart attack Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at his home.

Mr. Hall was born in Beaver County June 25, 1905.

He was a member of the Service United Presbyterian Church in Raccoon Township and the Raccoon fire department.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. June Hineman Hall, and a daughter, Miss Susan Hall, both at home; a son, Kenneth Hall, stationed with the Army in Germany; a sister, Mrs. Euclid Hineman of Green Garden Rd., and a brother, Omar Hall of Heights Rd., Aliquippa.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown by the Rev. J. R. Thompson, pastor of Service Church, and the Rev. Daryl Davis of the Mt. Pleasant United Presbyterian Church on Route 18. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight and Tuesday afternoon and night.

Mrs. Ethel Powell

Mrs. Ethel Powell, 76, of Substation, widow of Bernard G. Powell, died Saturday at 1 p.m. at City Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Powell was born Feb. 19, 1888, in Parkersburg, W.Va., to the late James Parker Fleak and Mary Emerick Fleak. She lived in this vicinity 50 years. She was a member of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene. Her husband died July 3, 1954.

She leaves a daughter, Miss Alice Powell, at home; two sons, Donald Powell and Kenneth Powell, and a brother, Earl Fleak, all of East Liverpool, six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. Gordon Hall. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Agnes Carter

Mrs. Agnes Elvira Carter, 1232 Clover St., Wellsville, widow of Joseph Earl Carter, died Sunday at 2:05 a.m. at the Belvedere Hospital at Pittsburgh, where she was a patient since Nov. 10. She also had been a patient at the Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh for several days. She was 87.

Mrs. Carter was born in Lowmoor, Va., Oct. 24, 1877, to the late Winston Green and Elizabeth Babsy Green. She lived in McDonald, Pa., before moving to Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight and Tuesday afternoon and night.

Hancock Crash Hurts 2 Shippingport Girls

Two young Shippingport girls were treated at City Hospital Saturday afternoon for injuries received when their car overturned, apparently in the Hancock County area.

Susan Elizabeth Walker, 17, suffered contusions of the left shoulder and abrasions of both knees and a sister, Karen Walker, 15, suffered a laceration of the left wrist and a neck injury.

The car driven by the older sister apparently slipped off the berm of the road and rolled over several times. The girls are daughters of Franklin Walker of Shippingport.

lead to the spreading of nuclear weapons.

Wilson arrived from London Sunday night. Obviously conscious of the danger that other Allies might think Johnson and he were "ganging up" to decide the nuclear organization issue, he told newsmen "we don't expect to finalize anything."

The head of the British Labor government which took power in mid-October described the conference as "the beginning of a fruitful cooperation, the beginning of a series of discussions which we hope will lead to the strengthening of the alliance."

Murder Action Eyed

Mississippi Awaits FBI Evidence In Rights Case

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Johnson Jr., "is review the evidence very, very carefully, and then make the decision on whether the state will take action."

Johnson said the FBI has given assurances it will turn over its evidence to the state.

The FBI has charged 19 men with violating the civil rights of the slain workers. Two other men were charged with being accessories. These are all federal charges. The preliminary hearing could be a delicate legal crossroad. It is scheduled in nearby Meridian before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter.

Justice Department attorneys will try to put on enough testimony to convince the commissioner they have a strong enough case to warrant holding the 21 men for grand jury action.

On the other hand, it is expected that the government will be trying to hold back the bulk of its case — so as not to tip its hand.

While the government readies its case, a statewide defense fund is being organized for the defendants, five of whom, according to the FBI, are Ku Klux Klan members.

Laurel G. Wier, one of eight attorneys who represented 18 of the men at their arraignment Friday, said calls offering funds have come from as far as Wisconsin. He said a corporation may be formed to administer the fund.

In Philadelphia, Sheriff Lawrence Rainey said Saturday he was offered money by FBI agents for information about the slayings. Rainey, one of those arrested, said agents told him they had witnesses.

The FBI declined comment on the witnesses but said the money claim was "ridiculous."

The civil rights workers, Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney, a Negro, disappeared near Philadelphia last June.

Pair Injured As Auto Rams Dresden Wall

A West End couple was injured early Sunday when their husband's car struck a Dresden Ave. retaining wall as he swerved to avoid a collision with an oncoming auto, police reported.

Injured in the collision at 2:13 a. m. 300 feet north of Moore St. were Albert T. Hampson, 26, of 133 Church St. and his wife, Glenna, 24, officers said. Hampson suffered a bump on the head and his wife had a laceration of the leg, police reported.

Hampson told police he was headed north when he saw a car approaching in his lane. When he swerved to avoid a collision, he lost control and the car hopped over the curb and hit a concrete retaining wall, he reported.

There was damage to the front end and radiator of the 1950 sedan, owned by Richard Watson, 673 St. Clair Ave., officers said. Patrolmen Ronald Brookes and Thomas Buckley investigated.

A Yellow Cab Co. taxi and a sedan were damaged in a mishap Saturday at 8:10 p. m. on Dresden Ave., police reported. The collision damaged the left rear of the 1961 model taxi, operated by Bruce A. Powell, 22, of Substation, and the right side of a 1957 two - door sedan driven by Raymond L. Morrison, 22, of 1856 Harvey Ave., officers reported.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes said both drivers agreed Powell was slowing for traffic, preparing to stop, and Morrison's auto hit the cab in the rear. The officer said the turn signals on the cab were not working properly.

Two autos also were damaged in a collision Saturday at 4:52 p. m. on Bradshaw Ave. 50 feet west of Ravine St., police said.

It involved a 1959 sedan driven by Edwin Greenwood, 63, of 920 Bradshaw Ave. and a 1957 sedan operated by Charles W. Hollinger, 37, of Russell Rd., officers said.

Officer Hayes reported Greenwood was driving off the parking lot at the Loblaw, Inc., market and hit the Hollinger car, which was in a line of traffic traveling west. There was damage to the left front of Greenwood's car and the right door and side of the Hollinger car, police said.

Momentary distraction of a driver was blamed for a collision on Market St. at 11 a. m. Saturday that damaged a parked car, police said.

The collision damaged the left rear fender of a parked 1952 two-door sedan owned by Francis L. Lonkert, 43, of Radio Heights and the right front fender of a southbound 1958 car operated by Harold R. Maylone, 22, of 1073 Dresden Ave., police said.

Maylone told police he took his eyes off the street for a moment and his car hit the parked Lonkert auto.

Meanwhile, Lester Lemley of Glenmoor told police the bumper, hood, grill and right fender of his 1961 model car were damaged by a hit - skip vehicle about 10:53 a. m. Saturday while parked on E. 5th St. at Crook Alley.

Cub Pack To Aid Family For Yule

Plans were discussed to prepare a Christmas cheer basket for a needy family at a meeting of the committee of Newell Cub Scout Pack 10 Friday night at Jefferson School.

Donations of food and other items for the basket are to be left by Dec. 20 with Art DeLong, cubmaster. The basket will be delivered Dec. 21 by DeLong and the youngsters.

Two autos also were damaged in a collision Saturday at 4:52 p. m. on Bradshaw Ave. 50 feet west of Ravine St., police said.

What kind of a tiger do you want under your hood? (Have you priced a tiger lately?)

If you're handy with a whip and chair, go for the 360-hp GTO. It bites. But then, even the 335-hp GTO bites. If you want a slightly more civilized package (but with lots of GTO muscle), try the Le Mans. You can get it with a six or either of two V-8s. They all have bucket seats. Carpeting. And cost less than some lame cats. So go price a tiger.

Final Week's Activity Eyed By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's map-minded lawmakers, busy the past month considering new congressional and state legislative districts, embarked today on what many hoped would be the final week of their special session.

However, legislative leaders declined to predict a windup, and although legislative reapportionment practically was resolved, chances seemed slim for adjournment by Friday.

Congressional redistricting loomed as the major obstacle and it appeared headed for a joint conference committee. The Senate approved its version 20-12 Friday but it showed practically no resemblance to the one approved earlier by the House.

Conferees were expected to be named tonight or Tuesday to consider redistricting, called for in a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision requiring equal representation on the basis of population.

All that remained to be done on reapportionment was Senate approval of the House-passed version which was reported out of the Senate State Government Committee Friday without a change.

This would clear the way for the matter to be placed on next May's primary election ballot. Redistricting is being handled as a bill but reapportionment must come in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Various other matters dotted the legislature agenda as the fifth week of the session got under way. They included proposed pay raises for legislators, county officials, and judges along with resolutions calling for annual sessions and four-year terms for representatives. Senators already are elected for four years.

Awaiting Senate action is a bill that would hike lawmakers' pay from $5,000 to $8,000 a year. The House approved last week the legislation which also includes hikes for county officials, the latter to vary according to population.

The House may vote tonight on the judicial pay raise bill which includes increases for the judges of the State Supreme Court.

Court, appellate judges, and judges of the Common Pleas courts.

Hunt Pushed For Jet Plane Down Off Coast

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard continued a search today for a Navy jet fighter interceptor plane with two men aboard that was presumed to have gone down in the Atlantic.

The F4B Phantom II jet was believed to have crashed about 35 miles off Virginia Beach on a routine training flight Saturday.

The crewmen were identified as Lt. (j.g.) Robert L. Carter, 25, the pilot, a native of Antioch, Calif., and Lt. (j.g.) James L. McDonald, 27, radio interceptor officer of Grantsville, W.Va.

Forestry Expert Dies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Edward P. Stamm, 72, an internationally known consultant in the forest industries, died Sunday. Stamm had been an executive for 30 years with Crown Zellerbach Corp. and had served as a forestry consultant in the United States, Canada, Europe and Australia.

Death Takes Wealthy Kin Of Vanderbilt

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan, 88, the former Duchess of Marlborough, who led a storybook life as an American heiress, hostess to international royalty and social worker in the London slums, died Sunday at her Long Island home.

Since the end of World War II, she had lived in virtual retirement, except for publication in 1952 of her best-selling autobiography, "The Glitter and the Gold."

She was born into one of America's wealthiest families. Her great-grandfather, Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, had founded the New York Central Railroad and provided the base for the family's $150-million fortune.

At 17, the shy, dark-haired Miss Vanderbilt reluctantly married Charles Richard John Spencer-Churchill, ninth duke of Marlborough. He was a first cousin of Winston Churchill. The marriage lasted 11 years, ended in divorce and later was annulled after both had remarried. The ground for the annulment was that her mother had forced her to marry the duke.

In 1921, she married Col. Louis Jacques Balsan, a pioneer French aviator. He died eight years ago.

With her marriage to the duke, the slender American heiress brought along a dowry estimated at $1.6 million in cash and the income from $2 million in gilt-edge stocks.

In 1897, the duchess produced a male heir, Albert Edward William John, marquess of Blandford, who became the 10th duke of Marlborough following the death of his father in 1934. A second son, Ivor, was born the following year. He died in 1956.

A service will be held Wednesday at New York's St. Thomas Episcopal church, the site of her first marriage 70 years ago. Burial will be in England.

Store Holds Shopping Session For Disabled

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander's department store threw open its doors and cleared the aisles on a Christmas shopping day for 400 disabled oldsters and 30 handicapped children Sunday.

Proceeds from the third annual Sunday open house — which helps the customers who can't walk to their Christmas shopping without the usual weekday hustle and bustle — went to the 12-non-profit hospitals and homes from which the shoppers came.

PTA Will See Puppet Show

"The Story of Christmas" will be presented with puppets by Mrs. Fred Sams at a Christmas meeting of the Fairview Parent-Teacher Association Thursday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. in the school. Members of the Executive Board will meet at 7.

The school chorus will sing a medley of seasonal songs under the direction of Mrs. Betty Henderson. Rooms will be open for inspection of Christmas decorations.

Mrs. John Dawson, president, said the PTA will provide a decorated tree for the meeting.

Mrs. Bernard Hartman, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Kennedy, Mrs. Sam Presutti Jr., Mrs. Joseph Patrick, Mrs. Walter Germusa, Mrs. S. R. Vranes, Mrs.

Leroy Lewis and Mrs. Richard Martell.

"Emergency Preparedness" was the topic discussed at the monthly meeting of the Ohioville Civil Defense organization Thursday night in the Fairview Grange Hall in Ohioville.

Sam McKinney, director, presided. He announced the unit has purchased two two-way radios.

A film, "Fallout," will be screened at the next meeting, Jan. 6. "Emergency Preparedness" will be continued.

The Chat N Chew 500 Club met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Walter Steff in Midland.

First prize was awarded to Mrs. Alfred Lefebvre, second to Mrs. Walter Schuffer, and low to Mrs. Robert Smith. Mrs. Steve Onuska won the traveling prize. Mrs. Sam Presutti was presented a birthday gift.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party Tuesday at Deramo's Restaurant in Midland.

No Changes For Defense Chiefs Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department team of top civilian leaders, headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, is expected to remain intact at least until mid-1965.

McNamara reportedly has discussed with key members of his team his wish that they stay on and see the Pentagon's programs through the Congress next session. They were said to have agreed.

This is taken to mean that McNamara himself intends to remain in office at least that long. Associates said they had been unable to detect any signs that McNamara is thinking of stepping out. He is nearing the end of his fourth year as secretary of defense, still well short of the record of 56 months set by Charles E. Wilson in the Eisenhower administration.

The only member of McNamara's top group to resign recently was Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics. He will be succeeded by Paul Ignatius, who is being promoted from undersecretary of the Army.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

Prince Chad, soon to be King of Razenpie, is on his way to Santa Land. He is followed by Womp, the man with the plan to keep him from returning to his kingdom. The Prince meets George, the Singing Turtle.

CHAPTER THREE

The prince dropped to his knees beside the turtle.

"Are you really a singing turtle?" he cried.

"You hear me," replied George.

"Let me hear you again!"

The turtle stretched his neck out full length, tilted his head, closed his eyes and opened his mouth.

"Tra la la la! Tra la la la! De da!"

The notes came clear and true, ringing in the frosty air like silver bells on a sleigh.

"There," said George. He opened his eyes and tucked his head down closer to his shell. "Now I must be off, for I am on my way to the Christmas Music Festival in Santa Land."

"SANTA LAND! Why, that is where I am going and I do not know the way. May I come with you?"

"I do not think so," replied George. "Ordinary boys and girls cannot go to Santa Land."

"Well, I don't suppose I am really ordinary. I am Frederick Chadwick Anthony Matthew Christopher John, called Prince Chad for short."

"That's not an ordinary name, certainly," agreed George.

"On Christmas day I am going to become King of Razenpie!"

"So that's why you are wearing that silly hat!"

"It's not a hat. It's a crown and it is very valuable, I expect."

"Well, come along, come along," grumbled George, starting down the road. "We'll go together, but you must not interrupt me when I practice my singing."

"Oh, I promise!" exclaimed the Prince as he fell into step beside the turtle. "Will you sing at the Festival?"

"Naturally. That is why I am practicing. The Christmas Music Festival is on Christmas Eve. It is held only once every hundred years and musicians from the whole world come to perform. Oh, it is something to hear! There are prizes, of course, but for me it is enough just to sing before Santa Claus. Imagine! What an honor!"

"Yes, yes!" agreed the Prince. "Still I do hope you win first prize!"

"It's been my heart's desire for a hundred years," said George and he threw back his head and began to practice his scales as they walked.

MEANWHILE, hidden in the brush that bordered the road, Womp, the man with the plan, crept along behind them, smiling to himself and biding his time. They had been travelling for perhaps an hour when suddenly the Prince halted. "What is that?" he whispered.

"Are you real?" cried the Prince.

"What is what?" said George crossly. "You promised not to interrupt me."

"But — I heard something. Didn't you hear — a kind of groaning?"

"I hope you aren't referring to my singing!"

"No — a real groan! Listen!" They stood still and sure enough they heard a moaning — not loud or troubled, but sorrowful like the sad sound a wind sometimes makes around the window when you're lying in your bed at night.

But there wasn't any wind now and there wasn't any person and there wasn't any animal anywhere that they could see. George and the Prince looked at each other and didn't know what to make of it.

"Let's go," said George at last. "Really, time is very short, for Christmas is only four days away and —"

"Look!" interrupted the Prince. "It's coming from there!" He pointed towards a nearby field where a broken-down Snowman stood, its shoulders dropping, one arm falling, and one coal black eye completely gone.

"Are you real?" cried the Prince.

The PRINCE ran up to the Snowman. He looked behind it and on top of it and all around it, but he could not find anybody. Just then the groan came again and he saw it was the Snowman that was groaning! Members of the Executive Board met afterwards. Next meeting will be held Friday.

Officers Jail

Man, 29, For Assault Case

A 29-year-old Aliquippa man is being held in Midland jail today on an assault charge after allegedly assaulting a young woman with a knife in front of her home on Midcrest Sunday about 5:30 p. m.

Thomas Dawkins, 29, and two companions fled the scene after Midland police were called by a sister of the woman, officers said. They eluded a roadblock but were apprehended in Wellsville a short time later by Officer Charles Amato, after the department was notified that the trio apparently was heading for Steubenville.

The call to halt the car was relayed to Wellsville through the East Liverpool police.

Patrolman Amato halted the car containing the three men, Dawkins and two companions, at 17th St. and Lincoln Ave. at 6:15 p. m.

Police said the men appeared beligerent and Amato made them remain in the car until Patrolman Ed James arrived to help.

Dawkins is being held on a $500 bond, with a hearing set for 7 tonight before Squire Paul McGeehan of Midland. Dawkins' companions were not charged.

Firemen In Wellsville

Respond To 3 Alarms

Wellsville firemen answered two minor calls over the weekend while the volunteers responded to a third alarm.

A short circuit caused a small fire in a television set at the home of June Wasco, 1301 Main St., Sunday afternoon at 1:30. An extinguisher was used.

Firemen investigated a burning odor at the Gibbs Rest Home, 1003 Riverside Ave., Saturday at 1:45 p. m. It is believed to have been the paint burning from new parts in the furnace, firemen said.

The volunteers were called Saturday at 1:20 p. m. to the Gilmore Tree Farm off Route 45 about three miles from Wellsville when a wall in a home caught fire from an overheated stove. The house was being used for an office, firemen said. The fire was out on arrival. The farm is owned by Dr. William Gilmore of East Liverpool.

Admitted to Salem City Hospital were Mary Washan of Lisbon, Earl Black of Negley, Karen Reynolds of West Point and Mrs. Wilda Main of Rogers.

Discharged were Mrs. Oliver Hulton and Mrs. Joseph Hough, both of Lisbon, and Mrs. Mae Thompson of East Liverpool.

2 Russian Children Visit 3 In American Home

MERRICK, N.Y. (AP) — Two Russian and three American youngsters clasped hands across the threshold of an American home the other day and the cold war, for the moment, melted.

The pair of Moscow teenagers and my three eldest children conducted in their home last Tuesday what probably was the first small-fry East-West summit conference in history.

The experiment was a smashing success.

Timothy Holton, 7, and Yuri Popov, 14, agreed to exchange backyard fort-building plans.

Peg Holton, 6, and Irena Tolstikova, 13, pledged to keep each other abreast of youthful fads in their respective countries.

And Jane Holton, 3, fell in love with Yuri.

"Mommy," she said after the 10-hour visit ended. "I love Yuri. He's so handsome and he's so kind."

Irena and Peg hit it off beautifully from the moment they met until they kissed goodbye.

"I have enjoyed myself in your home Peggy, only I wish I had enough time to teach you to say 'I like you very much' in Russian," Irena said. "We must see each other again. I promise I will never forget you and our visit here."

The two Russian youngsters spent the day in our suburban home during a two-week stay in the United States as guests of the American Broadcasting Co. during which they were filmed in a taped television program for showing next month.

The junior good-will delegates wore slacks and skirts, carried their credentials in their hearts and conducted discussions on the living-room floor or across a toy-littered playroom table.

"It has been a wonderful experience to come into your home and see how you live," Yuri said. "I enjoyed it very much. I particularly liked the pretzels and the strawberry shortcake. Those I never had before."

Irena, who spent a good portion of her time flitting about the house in quest of pigtails to pull, said she found our home "warm, pretty and full of lots of fun and laughing."

Yuri and Irena began their visit with a one-hour commuter train trip from their Manhattan hotel to the suburbs. The day's activities included a tour of a junior high school where they stood in line to have their trays filled in the cafeteria, a quick trip to a supermarket, a peek into a pet shop with carpeting on the floor and a visit to a large toy store.

In the midst of all the fun there were a few tense moments brought about by highly undiplomatic utterances of the Holton children.

"Is Mr. Khrushchev really still alive or did they kill him?" Timothy asked at the dinner table.

"He is living in a nice apartment in Moscow," Yuri replied without a hint of annoyance. "He was just too old and too sick to rule. So he resigned."

There was another awkward moment at the dinner table when the children began to recite a prayer. The two Russian children and their chaperone, Miss Zena Evgrosvi, just looked on.

This puzzled Timothy, so he asked, "Why don't you pray? Don't you think there's a God?"

His mother quickly turned to the conversation to another subject.

At the junior high school, Yuri seemed ill at ease with the children and gave the impression that he felt as though he were living in a fish bowl.

Once in our home, however, he became relaxed and laughed a lot and talked without prodding. Irena was outgoing from the start.

One of the articles in our early-American home that most attracted the two visitors was a large Boston rocker that tilted its occupant far back when it was rocked.

"We have these in the homes in the country but in the city where I live we never see them," Yuri said. "They are a lot of fun to rock in."

The electric refrigerator, automatic washer and drier and the home freezer appeared to hold little interest for Yuri and Irena.

Yuri was the more inquisitive of the two, asking such questions as how much American journalists earn, why they don't live in a city apartment, how much a compact car cost and why American children don't go to school six days a week as they do in Russia.

It was on a walking tour of

Music Room Comes Back

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
The music room is a staging a comeback with a bang-clang and root-a-toot, and this year Mr. Claus will deliver a bumper crop of musical instruments.

Advertisement

In many homes the music room is replacing one family room where everything was supposed to indicate relaxation. When four children are studying different musical instruments, who can relax, asks a parent.

A music room spotted months ago at an interior design show was singled out then for the good taste of decorator Ruth Strauss. But the thought occurred — how many people can afford a music room, even one that occasionally serves another purpose.

THAT THOUGHT has dissolved into the orchestra pit with recent observation that people seem to be gravitating to some personal music accomplishment with tremendous enthusiasm.

Attendance at musicals and concerts are up everywhere.

For example, you don't realize how many people have organs in their homes until you ask for volunteers to supply one for Christmas carols.

Portable organs can give music satisfaction easily to beginners because the mechanism has been simplified so that a student can begin to produce wonderful tonal effects right away.

Schools encourage musical interest, and young people beg to take lessons, in marked contrast to children of other generations who considered a trip to the music teacher a punishment.

At the recent school music assembly, the zither, drums, guitars and piano were played by small fry who accompanied their classes in ballads and hymns.

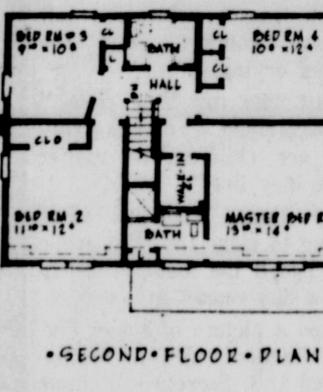

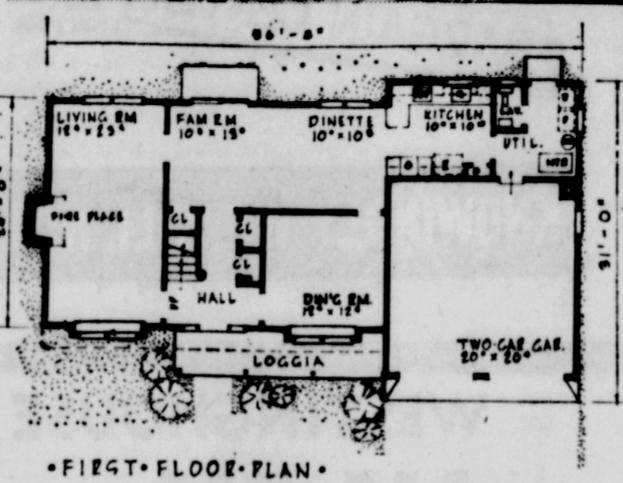

THE MUSIC room suggested by Miss Strauss is 12 by 12, furnished comfortably with upholstered stools, chairs and sofa.

She solved the problem of light with a translucent panel of cream-color Unex, a plastic lighted from above and behind to cast its glow over a spinet organ. Cheerful notes are portraits of the family in oval and square frames mounted on the plastic panel. Backgrounds are dark in contrast to the light behind. One showed mother with a harp, another had daughter in a ballet costume.

The floor was a sunburst design of wood tone set in a background of white flagstone vinyl tile, with round peacock blue rug in the center of the floor.

The window was handsomely dressed in mustard, wood and peacock blue print of easy Kodel, a polyester and cotton print used for cafe curtains and quilted upholstery on sofa. Small upholstered gold stools with metal bases and mustard-hued chairs on casters offered easy mobility for playing or listening.

There were bookshelves on one wall for sheet music, albums, a closet for instruments. A sofa that makes into a bed is a good addition for emergencies.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

CENTER-HALL COLONIAL is traditional in feeling but comfortably contemporary in planning. Meant for basementless construction, your builder can adapt it for a basement with stairs placed under the upper set if you wish. Almost 45 feet is given over at the back to family room, dinette, kitchen and utility room, an unusual combination to enhance easy housekeeping. A through living room on one side and formal dining room complete the downstairs. Four bedrooms are upstairs. Living area in HA371V is 1,050 square feet on the first floor and 936 on the second floor. Architect is Fenick Vogel, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York, N. Y. 10036.

U.S. Unemployed Rate Dropped To 5% In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5 per cent in November, the second lowest figure since early in 1960, the Labor Department said.

The October rate was 5.2 per cent.

Unemployment usually climbs sharply in November as winter weather begins hitting construction, agriculture, lumbering and other outdoor industries.

Drawers under the floor-level bunk give one lad storage for toys and hobby equipment. Under the overhead bunk is a roomy closet with swing-out doors for clothes storage, and a shallow cupboard topped by open shelves rises from the floor to the top level of the matress.

A library-type ladder is attached to a metal bar so the occupant of the upper bed easily can climb in from the side or over the shelves at the end. Bunks for this installation may be covered with durable, splinter-free woodgrained panels.

For easy care, walls can be covered with the same factory-finished panels.

A flexible floor covering will add to the room's appearance and provide another easily-cleaned surface.

The total number of job-holding Americans dropped only 300,000, to 70.8 million, much less of a decline than usual.

The total civilian labor force declined 200,000 to 74.2 million, less than usual for this time of year.

Blend cream cheese with Roquefort cheese and add a dash of brandy; use as a stuffing for celery. Serve with crisp greens tossed with French dressing as a delightful salad.

After you are sure the connection is firm, clip off any wire strands that are sticking out from under the heads of the screws.

Question: I intend to put a translucent plastic roof on our patio. What kind of nails should be used to attach the roofing material to the wooden cross beams?

Answer: The dealer where you buy the translucent paneling can supply you with the proper nails.

The type generally used is made of aluminum, has a special shank and includes a waterproof washer attached just under the head of the nail. Unless you hammer very carefully, the nail may cause the hole in the plastic to develop a raggedy edge. It is wise, therefore, to drill holes for the nails.

"They were glad later that they had, for a 116-day strike cut 15 million tons out of their nails."

What users do this time "will depend partly on the USW's bargaining tactics," Steel said, adding that automakers and appliance manufacturers—"the big dogs."

Information Of Interest

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner:

Your local lumber dealer sells a lot of lumber, but that's not all he sells . . . In fact, that's only about one-third of what he sells . . . A survey conducted by the National Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association brought out that sales of non-lumber products represent about 63 per cent of total business . . . Masonry supplies, paint, glass, wallpaper, insulation, tools, metal roofing and siding, non-wood floor coverings, and asphalt and asbestos products are among the items accounting for the large percentage of non-lumber sales.

IF YOU build a closet in your home, or put a new door on an old one, be sure you use hardware that will enable the door to be opened from the inside.

This is especially important if there are children in the home — and most persons know this — but some forget that visiting children also can get locked in. Another safety measure: see that there is at least half-an-inch between the bottom of the door and the floor so that air can enter the closet should a child be trapped inside when no adult is around.

The ends of a chair rung can not be reglued properly into the leg holes until the old glue has been scraped off. Once the new glue has been applied and the rung set into place, it can be beaded by using a rope tourniquet.

Tie tape loosely around the two affected legs (using rubber or cardboard cushions to avoid marring the wood), place a stick between the two pieces of rope and twist until the rope is tight. The stick will stay in place by resting it against the rung.

consumers of flat rolled steel" are taking no chances.

"They started planning their inventory buildups in September . . .

"Steel users face the same decision they had to make in 1959, 1962 and 1963," Steel magazine said today. "In 1959, they decided—correctly—that steel labor negotiations were moving inexorably toward a deadlock, so they built huge inventories.

"In 1962 and 1963, they pinned their hopes on the Human Relations Committee and hedged only moderately, now they must decide whether union and management are on a collision course and whether the outlook justifies stockpiling.

"Listen to the purchasing director of a large electrical equipment company: 'We weren't too concerned about a steel strike or a steel price increase until we saw the automotive labor settlement.'

"That changed everything— we decided that 'guidelines' were out the window and that Dave McDonald (president of the United Steelworkers of America) would make demands that no amount of Human Relations Committee discussion would satisfy. We let some of our divisions gamble in 1962 and 1963. But there're not doing it this time. They're all under instructions to protect themselves."

Steel said there was an unprecedented momentum in the 1959 steel inventory buildup, when "users upped their stocks by at least 12 million tons in less than six months."

"They were glad later that they had, for a 116-day strike cut 15 million tons out of their nails."

What users do this time "will depend partly on the USW's bargaining tactics," Steel said, adding that automakers and appliance manufacturers—"the big dogs."

A leak through a ceiling from an upstairs bathroom occurs less frequently from a damaged pipe than it does from water seeping down from behind a bathtub, shower or baseboard.

COLOR consultants say that consumer color preferences follow cycles that run from 10 to 25 years. Example: blue was a very popular color in the home from 1939 to the early '50s, was almost completely dormant for several years, picked up a little in the late '50s and now has again returned to prominence.

When you buy a new appliance cord for a toaster or an iron, the prongs of the appliance itself should be sanded to insure good contact with a new plug.

To Hedge Or Not To Hedge? Buyers Of Steel Are Asking

CLEVELAND (AP)—To hedge or not to hedge — that is the question facing steel buyers as they consider the possibilities of a steel industry strike next year.

"Steel users face the same decision they had to make in 1959, 1962 and 1963," Steel magazine said today. "In 1959, they decided—correctly—that steel labor negotiations were moving inexorably toward a deadlock, so they built huge inventories.

Pastors Picket Stores In Mansfield Sunday

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A group of Mansfield ministers who oppose business on Sunday will meet today to decide if they will continue picketing stores next Sunday.

Twenty-seven ministers picketed three shopping centers Sunday in their first open Sunday protest. One carried a sign reading: "You Need One Day Rest in Seven, Physically, Mentally and Spiritually." The ministers, who call themselves the "Committee to Make Sunday Sunday," are not backed by either of Mansfield's ministerial associations.

Pakistani Gentlemen Took Shattering Step

LONDON (AP) — A $1,700, 25 by 100 foot window had to be replaced recently in the Pan Am sales office here.

A Pakistani gentleman with ticket troubles came into the office. A counter clerk, realizing his passage back home was on another carrier, told the man:

"Straight out and up Sackville Street, then turn right to Regent."

The gentleman walked straight out — through the window.

Potters' Snowden Named To All-Ohio Second Team

MIKE SNOWDEN
Named To Second Unit.

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school gridiron greats of 1964 won well-deserved recognition today as they were named to The Associated Press Class AA all-state team.

They come from everywhere, from big towns to crossroads, and sheer individual ability won their berths on the squad recognized as official by the Ohio High School Football coaches' Association.

East Liverpool's Mike Snowden, 190-pound tackle, was named to the second All-Ohio offensive team. Snowden played both ways for the Potters but missed four games this season due to injuries. He was one of the Potters' co-captains.

The Potters also placed three gridders on the honorable mention list while Wellsville's great all-around football player Chris

3 Potter Gridders, Thornton Gain Spots On Honorable Mention

Thornton was named on the honorable mention selections.

Named from East Liverpool were defensive back Denny Burke, quarterback Bob Maltzich and linebacker Clarence Crable.

Other district players on the honorable mention list include Jack Beard, Steubenville's Big Red, Willie Sparkman, Bellaire, Tyrone Harris, Wintersville, Earle Smallis, Martins Ferry, and Bill Blankenship, Toronto.

The selections were made from six all-district squads selected by sports editors of Associated Press member newspaper, radio and television stations. Team won-lost records had nothing to do with the choices, although hot-shots from many of the better teams won positions.

Verbie Walder of Dayton Roth, the quarterback, tossed 18 touchdown passes this year, 38 in his career. Halfback Buster Yannon of Steubenville Central Catholic scored 159 points and rushed 1,765 yards in 220 carries; halfback Joe Yager, two years ago the Class A player of the year at Franklin, shifted to Class AA Chillicothe to rush for 1,073 yards, score 130 points, punt for a 39-yard average, kickoff, do some of the passing and pass catching, and also play on defense.

The big showpiece is Bob Gladieux, 170-pound 5-11 senior from Louisville.

Bob, who does everything from his fullback spot, scored 196 points; rushed for 1,481 yards to outgain by 38 yards the pass-run efforts of 10 beaten foes; completed 10 of 19 passes for 178 yards and three touchdowns; intercepted six passes; punted for a 35-plus yard average, and returned two punts and one kickoff for touchdowns. Here they are, Ohio's gridiron jewels:

First Team Defense
Ends — Bill DeRoss, Akron South; Phil Swindell, Pomeroy. Tackles — Larry Larsen, Massillon; Frank Peters, Hamilton Twp.

Middle guard — Jim Westbrook, Elyria.

Linebackers — Jules DeFederico, Steubenville C.C.; Bill Watterson, Niles; and Ted Evans, Waverly.

Backs — Ed Vuillemin, Akron St. Vincent; Jerry Ehrsam, Topeka, Kansas; Dick Christie, Upper Arlington.

Quarterback — Verbie Walder, Dayton Roth.

Halfbacks — Buster Yannon, Steubenville Central; Joe Yager, Chillicothe.

Fullback — Bob Gladieux, Louisville.

Honorary member — Ken Sennett, Barberton quarterback, deceased.

First Team Defense
Ends — Bill DeRoss, Akron South; Phil Swindell, Pomeroy. Tackles — Larry Larsen, Massillon; Frank Peters, Hamilton Twp.

Beavers Score First Cage Win Over Wellsville, 53-39

Cold 1st Period Stops Tiger Five

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Beaver Local had never defeated Wellsville in basketball at least that was the case up until Saturday night.

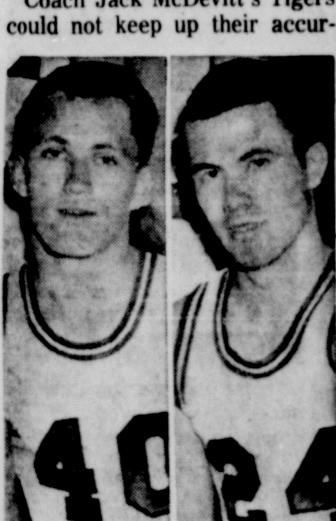

The Beavers, taking advantage of Wellsville's cold first quarter when the Tigers failed to score, registered a 53-39 victory Saturday night at the Beacom Memorial Gym.

The triumph was the first for Beaver Local over Wellsville in eight games, ever since the two schools began competition in basketball.

Coach John Pape's Beavers grabbed a 12-0 lead at the end of the first quarter as Wellsville failed to score. The Tigers finally scored with 7:28 remaining in the second quarter as Dick Call dropped in a field goal to break the ice.

While Beaver Local built up the early lead, Wellsville which missed 12 straight shots in the first quarter, came to life in the second period and outscored the Beavers, 20-9 to pull within one point at halftime, 21-20.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers could not keep up their accuracy.

Larry Roberts Dennis Horger

acy and went cold in the third period and wound up on the short end of a 38-26 score as the two rivals entered the fourth quarter.

WELLSVILLE never came closer than nine points in the fourth period and dropped their second straight game following a loss to Midland on Friday.

Beaver Local registered its first win in two starts after losing at Western Beaver Friday.

The scoring of Dennis Horger, plus the scoring and rebounding of Dick Rudibaugh and Larry Roberts paved the way for the Beavers, who fielded an experienced club.

HORGER wound up with 16 points netting seven field goals in 21 attempts while connecting on two fouls. Horger controlled the game for the Beavers and hit often enough on his jump shot from outside.

Rudibaugh, a 6-3 letterman, didn't start for the Beavers but came off the bench to score 11 points.

AFTER Chris Thornton scored a foul, the Beavers tallied the next five points to grab a 31-21 margin that was never challenged.

Beaver Local finished with a 32 per cent shooting mark on 21 of 66 while Wellsville fired 27 per cent connecting on 16 of 59.

In the reserve tussle, which went down to the wire, Wellsville edged Beaver Local, 57-53. Dick Murray paced the young Tigers with 16 points while Junior Hood added 12.

Don Lyle's 20 points and Bill Barnhary's 16 led Beaver Local. Wellsville led at halftime, 33-23 but had to stave off a rally in the last period by the Beavers.

Win Over Giants Saturday A Must

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't so very long ago that the St. Louis Cardinals were vitally concerned with what went on in Yankee Stadium in New York and it will be that way again next Saturday.

This time it's the National Football League's Eastern Division title going up for grabs and the Cardinals will be the football variety instead of baseball.

The Cleveland Browns had a chance to wrap up the Eastern title Sunday but lost to St. Louis 28-19 allowing the Cards to creep within a half-game of the lead. Cleveland visits New York Saturday and the Giants, struggling through a dismal season after three straight Eastern crowns, once again are a vital factor in the Eastern race.

Should the Browns win Saturday, Sunday's game between the Philadelphia Eagles and St. Louis won't mean a thing. But a Giant victory could give the Cards the crown if St. Louis

Oak Glen Set For Tuesday's Opener

3 Lettermen Returning To Golden Bears

By BOB DUFFY

Review Sports Editor
Coach Bob Starkey, starting his second year at Oak Glen, hinted that he expects some improvement over last year's squad which compiled a 9-12 record.

Oak Glen will receive its first test Tuesday night when South Side invades Hancock County.

Tuesday's game will mark the first to be played in the new gymnasium at Oak Glen.

Starkey must build a team around three senior lettermen in Dennis Carnes, 6-3, John Brand, 6-3 and Tom Smusz, 5-11½.

"A lot of our success this season will depend on Carnes' performance," Starkey pointed out.

CARNES was one of the top scorers on the Oak Glen five last year even though he missed several games with an ankle injury. He is rated an outstanding shot.

Brand, who lettered last season is a consistent type player being a good shooter and is strong defensively.

Smusz, who finds himself battling for a starting position this season, is ranked as a good outside shot. "He does a good job in practice but must learn to relax during an actual game," Starkey added.

COACH BOB STARKEY will present the 1964-65 Oak Glen basketball team Tuesday night at home when the Golden Bears meet South Side. Five cagers from this group of six will be in the starting lineup. They include left-to-right—Dennis Carnes, John Brand, Tom Thayer, Dave Wagner, Tom Smusz and Mike Elliott.

8 senior, Dave Wagner, 6 foot senior, and Tom Thayer, 6-2 junior, are in the running for first string jobs.

Clutter, a quarterback on the football squad, also is the playmaker in basketball. Thayer is Virgil Huff, Bob Manypenny, Bill Manley and Tom McKirtrick.

Looking over the 1964-65 schedule, Starkey feels Weirton, minus Ron Williams, won't be as strong but looks for East Liverpool, Wellsville, Benwood Union, Beaver Local and Morgantown to be among the tougher teams on the schedule.

One other junior scheduled for a lot of action is Marvin Six, 5-11, who is a good rebounder and jumper.

What does Oak Glen lack? Starkey seems to think its rebounding although the Golden Bears have average height.

OAK GLEN lost a host of basketball players last season including the team's No. 1 scorer in Sam Simmons along with Gary Mayhew, Tom Franczek, VARSITY games at Oak Glen will begin at 8 p. m. following the reserve tilt at 6:30.

Two new opponents on the Oak Glen schedule include Morgantown which advanced the state Class AAA state semi-finals last year and Summersville, now an AAA school, which played in the Class AA semi-finals a year ago.

Southern Records 2nd Straight Win

It's early in the basketball season but Coach Al Gironne probably is finding some additional gray hairs these days. Gironne, watched his Southern Local team win a triple overtime game, Friday then come back to rip Crestview, 50-49, Saturday on the Southern floor

Fans Should Pick Up Season Cage Tickets

Anyone who ordered a season basketball ticket for East Liverpool home games may pick up the tickets at Room 210 of the high school. Harold Ginder, ticket manager, announced. Also orders have been filled but if anyone has been overlooked they should contact Ginder at the high school.

for the Indians second straight victory.

Behind by nine points at one time in the second period, the small but hustling Southern five bounced back within two points at halftime, 28-26 then took a 40-39 edge at the end of three periods.

The Indians hung on to the slight lead and were never passed in the final quarter. Midway through the fourth period, Southern owned a six points lead. Crestview rallied only to fall short.

Both teams hit on 19 field goals but Southern dropped in 12 of 22 fouls while Crestview showed 11 of 17.

While Southern fired 33 percent from the field Crestview showed a 56 per cent mark but the Indians pressing defense only allowed the Rebels 17 shots in the second half.

Glen Stewart paved the way for Southern with 20 points while Larry Smith added 15 and did another superb job on the backboards. Gironne also cited the play of Mervin Jones for his defensive play.

Larry Athey paced Crestview with 14 points.

Southern plays at Stanton Local Saturday and travels to Springfield Local Saturday.

The Southern Local reserves recorded their first victory with a 59-47 decision.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Joan Waves On 'Broadside'

A blonde with blue eyes and respectable 36-22-36 measurements shouldn't be hard to find on TV, but Joan Staley is fairly well camouflaged. She is one of three enlisted WAVES in Kathy Nolan's outfit on "Broad side," which is one of the thousand or so new half-hour TV comedy series premiered this season.

"Most of the time I'm in denim fatigues, and even if they are cut an inch too small all around, that's no help because the other girls' are too," says Joan.

"MY FRIENDS ask me why I don't try to steal a scene now and then. The truth is I don't get enough to do actually to steal anything. I'm lucky just to hang in there. If there was something to steal, though, I'd steal it."

Next Sunday, Joan has her chance, unless the film editor does her wrong. In her role as Roberta Lover, former exotic dancer, Joan is chosen by her comrades-in-arms to revive the old act (complete with fans) on top of a Quonset hut.

The motive for all this is so silly we won't go into it. Needless to report, Joan gives this dance everything within the bounds of TV's code. It may be her last opportunity to remove those denim fatigues for the rest of the season.

"I DID the dance number in the first show of the series, but who knows if anybody was watching then?" Joan says.

Very likely the Navy Department was. Two weeks ago the chief of Naval Information (Pentagon division) told all Pacific fleet commanders that "Broadside" is to receive no cooperation, production or promotional assistance."

For 17 years Joan's father, Col. Major K. McConchie, has been an Army chaplain, but even he will say nothing to defend his daughter or "Broadside" from the Navy's ire.

"When I told Dad what I would be doing in TV this season," Joan reports, "he said, 'I'm glad you're doing it to the Navy and not to us.'"

DESPITE Joan's comments on the futility of scene stealing or otherwise trying to attract attention in a pair of fatigues and what amounts to a mob scene any time more than four people wind up on a TV screen, she has developed a few tricks — or schticks, as they now are called in the trade.

Her favorite "take," or expression before delivering a one-

Given Jury Post

BEAVER — Mrs. Ethel Powell of New Brighton was appointed Saturday as the Republican jury commissioner of Beaver County. She will fill the unexpired term of George C. Hill of Hopewell Township, who died recently. Mrs. Powell received the second highest number of votes when Mr. Hill was elected in 1960.

TONIGHT

7:30, WTAE, WEWS, Voyage: "The Blizzard Makers." A foreign power sabotages Adm. Nelson's attempts to find out why the Gulf stream has turned cold.

7:30, WJAC, WIIC, Bristol Court: "Help Thy Neighbor" is the over-all theme. In "Karen" a cat upsets Karen's matchmaking plans for her teacher and an attorney, and in "Harris Against the World," Harris agrees to invest his friend's money in the stock market on the basis of a hot tip.

8:30, KDKA, WSTV, Andy Griffith: Opie finds himself an unwilling principal in a brothal plot involving a new baby.

8, KDKA, WSTV, Lucy Show: A pet parakeet left with Lucy and Viv for the day by Mr. Moon, the banker, escapes from its cage.

10, KDKA, WSTV, Slattery's People: Whether a newspaperman has the right to protect the source of a damaging news story involving a member of the legislature is at issue in "Question: Which One Has the Privilege?"

10, WJAC, WTRF, WIC, Alfred Hitchcock: "Misadventure," starring Lola Albright and Barry Nelson. A philandering housewife and a thief became partners in a scheme to commit the perfect crime.

11:15, WTAE, Movie: "The Bribe," starring Robert Taylor and Ava Gardner. A government agent investigating black market activities almost loses his life when he falls for a suspect.

Know your lobster terminology? The greenish part you sometimes see when you split a cooked lobster is called the tomalley — it's the crustacean liver which turns green when the lobster is boiled.

A Veteran Recalls World War I And Epic Day With Sgt. York

Percy Beardsley enjoys a glass of cider on his hilltop farm in Roxbury.

PERCY BEARDSLEY, a Connecticut Yankee farmer with a zest for living, has to be pressed for a comment on his adventures in France on October 8, 1918. On that day in the Argonne Forest, Beardsley was with Alvin C. York when 132 German soldiers surrendered.

Since the recent death of Sgt. York, Beardsley is probably the only one still living of that American company which came upon a German machine-gun battalion of 160 men. Most of the first wave of Americans died and of the second wave, only 16, including York and Beardsley, remained fit for battle. When Sgt. Bernard Early was wounded, York, then a corporal, was the next ranking man. Beardsley recalls that the Germans were shooting each other in crossfire.

"There was none of this standing up as they had it in the movie," says Beardsley in criticizing the film, "Sergeant York." The incident was near the end of the war and Beardsley says that the Germans were anxious to surrender.

York became a national hero and Beardsley returned to his farm in Roxbury, Conn., with a citation for bravery. Some moves were made toward recognizing Early and Beardsley for their part in the exploit, but Beardsley is content to let the credit remain with Sgt. York. At 73, Beardsley would rather swap stories over a glass of cider.

The Beardsley cider cellar is as famous for its product as it is for its hospitality. Similar to an old fashioned root cellar, it keeps rows of barrels at just the right temperature for aging the cider. Percy is the fifth generation on this land and cider production is a family art.

Two of the barrels have names. One is called the Norma Talmadge for the silent screen star who left a glove on it while "Poppy" was being filmed on the farm in 1913. The late Marilyn Sgt. Alvin C. York (left) and Percy Beardsley are seen in uniform in 1918.

Monroe, a neighbor while married to Arthur Miller, asked what she would have to do to get such an honor. Beardsley's wife, Louise, suggested she leave a handkerchief on a barrel. The blonde star didn't have one with her but Beardsley carved an M on a barrel anyway.

Fond of bright red shirts even though he tends a one-ton Red Devon bull on his farm, Percy Beardsley has no worries about being the last survivor of a heroic page of American history. He is enjoying the present.

THE LAST MAN

Mementos of World War I have been stored in Percy Beardsley's attic in Roxbury, Conn. Here, he inspects his Colt .45, boots and helmet with the service flag his family displayed for him on wall.

Beardsley holds pictures of Norma Talmadge and Marilyn Monroe, two of famous visitors to his cellar, in front of barrels named for them. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon has been a cellar visitor.

The Beardsley home, built 100 years ago, nestles among rolling Connecticut hills. When furnace was put in several years ago, a special wall was added to keep the cider cellar, one of the last in the area.

Percy and Louise Beardsley look over a zig-zag log fence, which he helped build in his youth, at Red Devons. The couple plans to sell the last of the herd of horned cattle next year.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I doubt that you ever have received a letter as nutty as this one. Please print your answer because I've got to understand what's going on.

I'm a 16-year-old girl. My best friend is 16 also. I'll call her Wendy. Last night Wendy was at my house and we were talking — just the two of us.

Suddenly she said, "How can I get bronchial pneumonia?"

I asked her why in the world she wanted to get bronchial pneumonia. She answered, "Oh I don't want to die or anything like that. I'd just like to get sick enough to go to the hospital so people will send me cards and flowers and the fellows will visit me and see me in my night gown with my hair loose."

I was shocked at her idea of fun. Have you ever heard of anything so far out? Is Wendy crazy, or what? Thanks for your help. — CANT' DIT.

Dear Can't Dig: Anyone who has had bronchial pneumonia will tell you it's no fun. Of course Wendy doesn't really want to be sick, she just wants the fringe benefits.

Illness is a sure-fire attention getter. Moreover, it provides a respectable excuse for not going to school or to work. Some people who fail to get attention from their day-to-day achievements conveniently get sick. You'd be surprised at the number of so-called adults who resort to this technique — often without realizing it.

Thief In Midst

Dear Ann: My husband and I own a small novelty shop. We have rented the apartment above our shop to some friends.

Last week we learned that their teen-age son has been stealing merchandise. My husband and I are upset and don't know what to do. We are reluctant to tell the boy's parents because it might end a long-time friendship.

Your counsel is badly needed.

Dear Torn: Don't talk to the parents. Talk to the boy. Avoid preaching or threatening. Explain that you are deeply disappointed in him but you are confident he can straighten around and you are willing to let him prove it.

If he continues to steal after you've had the talk, then you must tell his parents.

Truth Strikes Home

Dear Ann: For years I've been reading your column and hating you for your stand against divorce. More than once as I read your smug replies I shouted aloud, "What does SHE know about the feelings of the tortured people involved? How can SHE give such pat answers on the basis of a single letter?"

Today I'm singing a different tune. You were right all along. Shad and I didn't care who we hurt. We couldn't live without each other. I thought Shad had more class than any man I'd ever known. He thought the same about me. Living together has shown us we were both wrong.

After six months we are calling it quits. Shad is going back to his former wife. She is willing to take him back because of the children. I'm not so fortunate. My husband doesn't want me back. My teen-age children will have nothing to do with me because I humiliated their father and broke up two homes. All I have is my job — for as long as my health holds up.

My life is a shambles and I deserve what I'm getting. Please keep telling people they can't build a future on the ashes of destroyed marriages and broken hearts. We tried and it didn't work. — GUILTY AS CHARGED.

Dear Guilty: I plan to keep telling 'em — so long as my typewriter holds together. Now quit beating yourself and try to build a new life — somehow.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

Care Needed In Correcting Speech

Our eldest son, when around three or four years of age, reported to us one day that the workmen eating their lunch might often hesitate, even stammer.

SIMILAR harm to the child's speech might occur when you try to correct his wrong sounds of words after he enters school.

One good thing you can safely do, whether the child is three or seven, whether he says simple words with incorrect sounds, is to read aloud to him for brief periods daily. You must be calm and speak softly and kindly if you try to have him say a word correctly after you, else you do far more harm than good.

The latest count showed at least 13 persons killed in traffic in the period beginning 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Sunday.

Six traffic deaths were recorded on both Friday and Saturday, but only one on Sunday.

Fires, another weather-related factor, took four lives and an accidental hanging brought total toll to 18 deaths.

The hanging occurred in the Cleveland suburb of North Olmsted where 17-year-old Richard C. Immett, trying to perform a rope trick he had seen on television, hanged himself in his garage.

The fatalities: Sunday

David Ingram, 41, Cincinnati, when the car in which he was a passenger struck a parked car on Cincinnati's east side.

Charles Robinson, 74, in a fire in his apartment on Cincinnati's west side.

Fridays

Mrs. Harriet Tope, 45, of Niles, in an automobile collision in Niles.

Mrs. Bessie Lee Centers, 44, of Middletown, when her car struck a tree in Middletown.

Edward Gadowski, 48, of Cleveland, when struck by an automobile in Cleveland.

John Upham, 22, Worthington, on Interstate 71 in Columbus when his car skidded and hit the rear of a truck.

Larry Eugene Poole, 16, of near Mansfield when struck by an automobile just east of Mansfield.

James E. Ulrich, 30, of Mount Gilead, when his automobile collided with a State Highway Department salt truck south of Mount Gilead on U.S. 42.

Saturday

Patrick J. Fitzpatrick, 27, of Newark, when his car hit a guard rail on a curve a mile south of Navarre on U.S. 21.

Joyce E. Sechrist, 17, of West Liberty, Logan County, when her car skidded on any icy road northeast of Urbana in Champaign County and hit a tree.

Miss Carol Schultz, 20, of Akron, when struck by an automobile near the University of Akron campus.

Howard Carl Hawes, 31, of Geneva, in an automobile collision on U.S. 20 about 10 miles east of Painesville.

Mrs. Antonia Brdar, 71, in a fire at her home near Jefferson.

Lawrence Ingraham, 70, Cleveland, in fire at his home.

Junior Editors Quiz on

ATOM

QUESTION: How is it possible to split the atom?

ANSWER: Certainly not by the method shown at upper left — which our artist put in just to show how impossible splitting a tiny thing like the atom seems to be. To realize how minute an atom is, think of a toy balloon containing hydrogen. The number of hydrogen atoms in it would be around 100 million million billion. Yet scientists do succeed in splitting such infinitesimal particles.

By 1913, it was known that the atom had a definite structure, an inner nucleus containing protons and neutrons, with minute electrons circling around this. It was found possible, by using magnetic and electric fields — or spaces in which these forces have influence — to accelerate a stream of charged particles such as protons and electrons to an enormous speed. They would then smash into the atoms of a bit of target material and split atoms so as to release various particles. The long tube in (1) is opened to show smaller tubes which speed the particles along. The synchrotron (2) speeds particles in a circle until they, too, smash into a target. In (3) a neutron from a highly radioactive material splits an atom to start the famous chain reaction and release enormous amounts of atomic energy.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

bles to form at the "guilty" spot.

Q.—Please suggest an easy, safe, and mild bleach I can prepare at home for my hair.

A.—One good one is comprised of a cup of 15 per cent alcohol, a drop or two of glycerin, and the juice of a lemon.

Q.—How can I get longer life from my pastry brush?

A.—This brush will last longer if you wash and dry it carefully after each use. Hang it up to dry where the air circulates before putting it away.

It's easy to roast chicken without stuffing. If you want to dress up the bird, make a sauce from the pan drippings and heavy cream, then add seedless green grapes. Serve the chicken and sauce with steamed buttered rice mixed with almonds. A company dish!

Q.—How can I whiten discolored handkerchiefs?

A.—By immersing them in cold water to which you've added a pinch of cream of tartar.

Q.—What is a practical and safe way of locating a leak in a gas pipe?

A.—By brushing the pipe in the suspected spots with thick soapsuds. If a leak is present, the escaping gas will cause bubbles to form at the "guilty" spot.

Q.—What can I do about the tailpipe on my car, which annoyingly scrapes every time I enter or leave a steep driveway?

A.—There's a way of cutting this tailpipe without shortening it. Hacksaw a piece from the bottom of the pipe on the bias, or at a long angle — and this will give you more road clearance, and yet the overhang will keep your bumper free of exhaust stains.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Glass doors are of slipping on the rug and fall-beautiful but they can be dangerous against the door. Along the same line, always be certain to tell whether the door is open or closed, and many people have tried to walk through a closed door!

May I suggest some precautions that can be taken to prevent accidents?

Put attractive decals on the door at two levels . . . one high enough to be seen by an adult, and another at a child's eye level.

Never have throw rugs in front of a glass door because there is always the possibility of slipping on the rug and falling.

It is sometimes difficult to tell whether the door is open or closed, and many people have tried to walk through a closed door!

And, never take it for granted that the door is open!

I have been in homes where artificial butterflies (bought at the dime store) have been taped to the door and they were adorable.

Also, artificial ivy taped across the bottom of one door and up the sides to adult-eye level, almost looks as though the ivy was growing in a planter!

If you are having a birthday party for a small child, tape balloons to the door. Not only is it attractive, but is an extra precaution because children do run without thinking about where they are going!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I work for a chain of hotel apartments and here is the way we mix plaster for patch-plastering:

One part lime (regular finish), two parts plaster of paris and just a small pinch of cream of tartar.

After adding enough water to make it the proper consistency (about like pancake batter), THEN add the pinch of cream of tartar. Without the cream of tartar the plaster will get hard too quickly.

After you have patched the cracks in the walls and smoothed it out with a trowel, take a paint brush, dip it in plain water and go over the plaster. Then take the trowel and smooth out the plaster again.

Let the plaster dry completely before applying paint.

ULYSES STATION

DEAR HELOISE: When

buns or bread have risen for baking, brush the tops with milk and then sprinkle with poppy seeds or sesame seeds. The seeds will not fall off.

PAULINE

DEAR HELOISE: Many people use plastic containers designed for water, bleach, or mild chemicals, for storing gasoline and other flammable oil-like materials.

This is dangerous. Plastic containers can be permeated by gasoline and other similar vapors at elevated temperatures. The thinner the vessel wall, the more likely the vapor is to escape.

Also, these plastic containers are combustible, are subject to rupture in cold weather, and are really dangerous when refilled with something not intended for this type of storage. Please warn your readers about this danger.

N.T.

One poor fellow wrote that he filled one with paint thinner and soaked his paint brushes. Next morning, not only was the plastic bottle dissolved but his tub ruined.

Thanks, for the reminder. It soaked in my brain.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have an idea for mothers whose babies who are just beginning to sit up alone:

I put a child's plastic swimming tube around my daughter's waist. This serves as a toy for her and, at the same time, helps her to balance herself. It also keeps her from bumping her head if she should fall over!

Try it sometime, it really works.

HELENE TOWNSEND.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron, I spray extra starch on the seat of my children's play suits, shorts, or jeans.

If they slide or get in the mud, I can just throw the clothes in the washer and they come out like new. The starch keeps the soil from grinding into the fabric and it washes out like a breeze.
